Fourth Member Of Atom Spy Ring Arrested

FBI Says Engineer Recruited Army Man To Aid In Conspiracy

NEW YORK, July 18—(AP)—The fourth American allegedly linked to Russia's Klaus Fuchs atom spy ring was seized at his home here last night by the FBI. He is 32 year-old Julius Rosenberg—a balding, bespectacled engineer, married and father of two children.

The Department of Justice charged him with conspiracy to commit espionage, and said he had recruited for a cloak-and-dagger Soviet spy apparatus that penetrated America's atomic secrets.

Held In Jail

He was arraigned and held behind bars in lieu of $100,000 bail for a federal court hearing on July 31. His attorney insisted he was innocent.

"Rosenberg is another important link in the Soviet espionage apparatus," FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said in Washington, where the arrest was announced.

In the past two months the government has arrested three other Americans it says were implicated in the spy ring headed by Dr. Klaus Fuchs, the German-born Communist sympathizer who worked his way to the top of Britain's atomic program.

Fuchs confessed and now is serving a long prison term in England.

The three Americans seized as a result of Fuchs' disclosures were Harry Gold, a Philadelphia biochemist; Alfred Dean Slack, a scientist of Syracuse, N. Y., and David Greenglass, a New York machinist and former U. S. army sergeant.

Scheme Revealed

All were charged with wartime espionage—a charge that can mean the death penalty.

The FBI announcement said the American-born Rosenberg's part in the ring was the recruiting of Greenglass—then stationed at the atomic bomb laboratories at Los Alamos, N. M.—to work with Gold.

Like a character in a fictional spy drama, Rosenberg gave Greenglass an odd job top from a jello box to be matched with the other half as a recognition signal with Gold, the FBI said.

As a result, Greenglass turned over bomb data to both Gold and Rosenberg in 1945, the agency said.

"Rosenberg gave Greenglass specific instructions as to the type of information Russia desired," Hoover declared.

At their first meeting in June, 1945, Hoover said, "Greenglass was paid $500 by Gold, who obtained it from his Soviet superior, Anatoli A. Yakovlev, Soviet consul in New York City."

Hoover added that after Gold was arrested last May, Rosenberg warned Greenglass to flee the country and gave him "substantial funds" to do so.

Rosenberg told Greenglass to get a passport for Mexico, travel to Switzerland, and then to report to the Soviet embassy in Czechoslovakia, Hoover said.

Hoover said Rosenberg's offense was accentuated because he "aggressively sought ways and means to conspire with the Soviet government to the detriment of his own country."

Draftees Need 16 Good Teeth

Shortage Of Dentists Stiffens Requirements

WASHINGTON, July 18—(AP)—The Army's forthcoming draftees must have better teeth than was required for world war II, duty but they need not be quite so stable emotionally.

And in the event of a war a general reduction in standards for military service is in prospect, so that many men who once might have been rated 4-F may shoulder arms.

Furthermore, plans are under way to see that, in such an emergency, 4-Fs are funneled into suitable essential jobs in which they might be needed.

These were developments today as draft boards over the nation began filling the Army's demand for 20,000 replacements by Sept. 30. The draftees will take the place of men being sent overseas because of the Korean crisis.

There may be another draft call next month, Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey said yesterday. He added:

"And if things continue to grow worse, it may be necessary to tighten the law concerning exemptions of veterans and the regulations concerning dependents."

An Army spokesman said that men now being drafted must have at least 16 teeth "in proper position" in order to be accepted.

During World War II men were admitted no matter how bad their teeth. The higher qualification, the spokesman said, is due to a shortage of dentists in the Army and the inability of the Defense Department to provide unlimited upper and lower plates.

On the other hand, the Army has reduced its standards to admit "mild" neuropsychiatric cases. During the war no known psychoneurotics were admitted.

Council, Committee To Discuss Traffic

Members of the Chamber of Commerce's traffic committee will meet with city council tonight to discuss once again their 13-point program designed to aid in the solution of Salem's traffic problem.

The committee will be represented by Attorney George Bowman, chairman; Alroy Bloomberg, chamber president; and George Emeny.

The measures were presented to council at their meeting on June 27 after approval by the Civic Committee. So far, they have rested with the council's safety committee with no action taken.

Council also is expected to approve appropriations for the construction of a new 500,000-gallon water standpipe at E. 10th st and Highland ave as part of the city's program to improve water supply.

Salvation Army Leader, 84, Dies

Gen. Evangeline Booth Retired In 1939

HARTSDALE, N. Y., July 18—(AP)—General Evangeline Booth, retired commander of the world-wide Salvation Army, died Monday at the age of 84.

She had been ill for more than a year and spent the last few days before her death in a coma. She was born in London on Christmas day, 1865, the same year her father, General William Booth, founded the Army. She grew up with the organization and her lifetime almost exactly paralleled its growth.

As a little child she followed her father's footsteps as he preached in the Limehouse and Whitechapel slums of London—and was preaching herself when only in her teens.

Later she carried the army's work into Canada and the United States. As head of the Army's Canadian division she led a mission to the Klondike gold rush camps in 1898. Later she became an American citizen and was leader of the Army in the United States for 30 years.

In 1934 she was elected commander of the world organization, and retired in 1939. She was the army's first woman general.

Doubt Truman Will Ask Boost In Taxes Now

President Expected To Seek Men, Funds, Authority In Crisis

WASHINGTON, July 18—(AP)—President Truman will not for more men, money and authority to deal with the Korean crisis tomorrow but, one congressional leader said, will not seek a tax increase.

The President set aside much of today for work on final drafts of his two Wednesday messages—a report to congress at 11 a. m. E.S.T., and a broadcast to the people at 9:30 p. m. (10:30 Salem time).

As pieced together from a dozen sources in the capital, Mr. Truman's requests to Congress were expected to include: An additional $3,000,000,000 to $6,000,000,000 in military spending authority.

Permission to increase by 220,000 men or more the authorized strength of the armed forces—or, about 770,000 above today's actual strength.

Control of Materials Limited powers of priority and allocation, to channel steel and other materials into arms production, by voluntary means if possible and compulsory means if necessary.

Anti-inflation measures including curbs on consumer credit but not including the price, wage or ration powers of world war II.

Higher taxes have been predicted freely by officials as the Korean "police action" mushroomed into war proportions. Senator Lucas of Illinois, Democratic leader in the senate, told a reporter, however, he does not expect that Mr. Truman can call for them when the new Congress convenes in January. This does not, however, necessarily rule out his pending request for a "moderate" increase.

One report was that the bulk of the new military requests would be in the form of contract authority—that is, to order things for which the money would be appropriated later. This would mean that the bills would be quite a while in appearing. It also would indicate plans to order heavier types of equipment, rather than readily available small items.

Fear Burden To Continue. There is a growing tendency in Washington to regard the costs of Korea as only a first installment on a possibly long and heavy burden of defense spending and foreign military aid.

The assault on Korea—a warning that communist armies may strike at peaceful neighbors without warning or provocation—is expected to cause a re-weighting of the entire program of the North Atlantic alliance.

Speedier rearmament of democratic countries in Europe and elsewhere is highly probable, informed officials said, and may be the subject of urgent presidential messages to congress later on.

Taft's Plans To Tour Ohio Remain Unaltered

WASHINGTON, July 18—(UP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft said his plans for an extensive tour of Ohio beginning Aug. 15 still stand today despite the Korean situation.

Sen. Taft, up for re-election in November, said the plans have been in the blueprint stage since he made his first trip through the Buckeye State last year.

There has been no change in my plans for the Ohio tour," Sen. Taft said. "I don't foresee, at this time, any crisis which will cause me to change those plans."

Two Boys Linked To Girard School Blaze

WARREN, July 18—(AP)—A 14-year-old boy admitted today he and a companion, 15, started a fire which caused $50,000 damage to the Girard High school on Jan. 25.

Trumbull County Prosecutor Joseph T. Molitoris said the 14-year-old was arrested last night. His companion has not yet been apprehended. Charges were filed in juvenile court against both boys, but Molitoris would not disclose their names.

Yanks Still Holding Vital City; U. S. Air Clows Hurt N. Koreans

TOKYO, July 18—(AP)—Counter-attacking American troops thrust deep into enemy-held territory around Taejeon tonight and occupied the strategic airfield in offensive blow against exhausted Communist forces besieging the South Korean rail and industrial center.

An 8th army spokesman reported today that American forces still hold Taejeon, the important city of the west flank of the Korean battle line.

He said that American forces have been fighting with great determination in defense of the city of 130,000 population in the heart of Korea's last coal field.

The spokesman said the 26th division's 19th and 24th infantry regiments have been in the thick of heroic fighting which brought North Korean forces of superior number almost to a standstill, just north and west of Taejeon.

Taejeon Sector Quiet Latest reports from the front to 8th army headquarters did not indicate heavy fighting in the Taejeon area this morning.

It is understood that numerous decorations will be awarded soon to units and individuals who have been helping defend the western end of the line against great odds.

The spokesman said that four Communist tanks were observed on the south side of the Han river above the American sector, east of Kongju. He said other enemy tanks were seen on the north bank of the Han river, northeast of Kongju.

(Kongju is about 20 miles northwest of Taejeon.)

The Reds were hitting a battery from the air by U. S. jet fighters, Mustangs and light bombers. Heavy bombers struck behind the lines in strategic attacks which some or later would show up in a slackening of Communist supplies at the front.

U. S. Air Blows Heavy So terrific was the air beating that fighter pilots reported the Reds moving their armor and motor columns only by night and lying low in the daylight.

U. S. Far East headquarters informed the defense department that the defenses were holding all along the line and that many pressure situations. The Washington spokesman warned against considering this a decisive turning point.

However, there is a definite stiffening of defenses, and there is more tactical support from artillery and air, the Defense Department reported. This has kept the Americans in the battle before the Han river at Taejeon, where Communist troops last were reported at the city's outskirts.

A Red force to the east posed a serious threat. Gen. MacArthur's headquarters reported Reds moving reinforcements to their Fifth division driving south from Taeyang, 60 miles northwest of Taejeon, striking for American supply lines. The South Korean First corps had blunted this drive Sunday.

Texas Goes Ahead
Of Ohio In Census

HOUSTON, July 18—(AP)—Texas has 7,575,443 people and has passed Ohio to become the fifth most populous state.

The 1950 census count, still not complete, reached that figure yesterday when Houston was reported to have 593,600 population. This makes Houston the largest city in the South, passing New Orleans which has 568,478. Houston has annexed large areas since the 1940 count.

The preliminary Ohio population has been announced as 7,501,791. Texas was sixth in 1940 with 6,414,824, behind Ohio's 6,907,612. Ranking at the top in order this year are New York, Pennsylvania, California and Illinois.

Still unannounced in Texas is Harris (Houston) County. Without it the state's population is 6,873,838, and Harris County's 22 municipalities have been given preliminary figures totaling 701,610. Thus the 1950 Texas figure, minus rural population in Harris County, totals 7,575,443.

House Refuses
Electoral SetupVotes Against Change
In 150-Year-Old Plan

WASHINGTON, July 18—(AP)—The house late Monday killed a proposal to abolish the electoral college and to revamp the machinery by which the nation has named its presidents for 150 years.

It turned down a senate-passed resolution that would have submitted to the states a constitutional amendment doing away with the electoral college system and substituting one based on proportionate division of the popular vote.

The electoral college system now gives each state's total electoral vote to the winning candidates for president and vice president.

The proposed change, requiring ratification by 36 states, would have divided each state's electoral vote in direct proportion to the popular vote received by the opposing candidate.

House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts assailed the proposal as "a political Pandora's box."

Instead of simplifying the election system, Martin contended, the change would encourage splinter parties, give the Deep South the balance of power in presidential elections, and "could lead to the loss of our two-party system of government."

All tests were completed in Herd Improvement Registry.

PIG HATCHERIES may become the most economical source of good feeder pigs for many farmers.

Although they may never become as essential to the pork industry as chick hatcheries are to the poultry business, pig hatcheries are supplying good, healthy feeder pigs at reasonable prices. The new business is expanding rapidly, according to the July issue of Successful Farming magazine.

The pig hatchery aims to produce a large number of weanling pigs to sell at weights of around 40 pounds to the man who wants to feed them out to market weight.

Buying pigs for May or June delivery, when the pigs can be put directly on clean pasture, enables farmers to avoid the pig housing problem and the maintenance, care and feeding of brood sows. In this specialized age, some farmers find they can spend more time profitably on dairying or grain production, rather than with pig farrowing chores.

The pig hatchery idea and the selling of weanling pigs has progressed most in the relatively feed-deficient areas. Missouri, Wisconsin, the Dakotas and Canada have been the most prolific sources of feeder pigs for the corn surplus areas.

The idea is taking hold in such heavy feed-producing states as Iowa, however, and more production units are expected soon.

HOT WEATHER may cut mash consumption by poultry and bring a drop in egg production. Feed your hens wet mash, advises Successful Farming magazine. Enough wet mash for 100 hens can be made by mixing two pounds of regular mash with water or skim milk. Feed the wet mash on top of the dry mash at noon in the regular mash hoppers. A laying slump often can be avoided if you start feeding wet mash as soon as you notice a drop in feed consumption.

IF YOUR HENS are more interested in sitting on eggs than laying them in the summer

Library Association Gives $100 Awards

CLEVELAND, July 18—(AP)—The American Library Association today announced $100 "letter awards" will go to the closed United States Information Service library at Prague, Czechoslovakia, and to Eva Santee, public librarian at Vancouver, Wash.

The ALA said the award was made for "a demonstration of democratic library service abroad in bringing an accurate presentation of American life through books, periodicals, films and music to the people of Czechoslovakia."

Miss Santee was cited for "her pioneering work in developing two libraries in the state of Washington, and for her warm human qualities combined with organizing ability."

NEW YORK, July 18—(AP)—Coffee prices were increased four to five cents a pound today by the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. on its bag-packed brands. Trade circles expected other chain stores to announce similar advances.

The A. and P. attributed its hikes not to the Korean war but rather to the continued advance in green coffee prices largely because of adverse crop conditions.

The Defense Department and the Agriculture Department were the only agencies to show increases; the largest decrease was in the Post Office Department.

Emphasis On Usefulness

THE CHAIRMAN of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Commission, Senator McMahon of Connecticut, has chosen this particular time to let it be known that the United States is speeding up development of an atomic-powered submarine power plant. The effect of his announcement, we believe, will be good.

It will call attention to the infinite possibilities of atomic energy in a field unrelated to the dreaded atomic bomb. Mounting war tension has added to the lopsided conception of the government's monopoly of atomic fission for the sole purpose of making bombs. That is only one aspect of the work being done; it never was more than one aspect, and a relatively minor aspect at that.

The ultimate use of atomic energy will be its use as a fuel. A quantity of fissionable material no larger than a pound of butter would furnish enough energy to drive a submarine tens of thousands of miles. It would furnish enough energy to supply all the electrical needs of a metropolis for several days. It would revolutionize all existing patterns of power conversion to do men's work.

Unfortunately, these possibilities have been overshadowed by the atomic bomb. In truth it is hard to think about them while the bomb casts its shadow. Senator McMahon has made it a little easier with his reminder that the Atomic Energy Commission is speeding up development of an atomic-powered submarine engine. It would open the door to a thousand uses of atomic energy, all of them more important than its use as an explosive force.

Pinching The Millions

OHIO'S latest financial report from the offices of the state finance director shows an apparent surplus, which may or may not prove to be an actual surplus. But generally speaking, Ohio is operating in the black.

Aside from the bookkeeping involved in this, which is baffling even to those who follow it day in and day out, a financial moral is suggested. It is so simple it bears the stamp of financial genius.

Since the government of John W. Bricker, the state has been the beneficiary of conservatism in estimating its income. This practice has been the despair of free-spenders both in the executive and legislative branches. But it has been the salvation of taxpaying Ohioans.

Obviously, high revenue has been possible because of inflation. But the same inflation which boomed revenues in Ohio has boomed them everywhere else, including Washington, with this difference: In Washington—and in many of the states—the spenders have anticipated boom income and spent it faster than it materialized. In Ohio, the spenders have been held in check. They haven't pinched pennies—far from that. But they have been pinched a million dollars here and there, with the effect that Ohio taxpayers haven't had to dig deeper year by year to keep up with them.

Back Into Mothballs

WHILE technicians toil around the clock to put armament saved from World War II back into usable condition some ideas left over from the last few years must be packed away in "mothballs."

President Truman will give Congress part of the bill of particulars this week. The whole bill will be known only after more experience with the new shape of international relations. America's acceptance of direct responsibility for opposing the Communist conspiracy will grow as it goes.

One of the first ideas to go into mothballs is that of the atomic bomb as a weapon capable of superseding all other weapons. Even if the United States still had a monopoly of this weapon, it would settle nothing as far as the issue in Korea is concerned.

Another idea being retired from attention in a hurry is that of the supreme role of air power in national defense. Airpower is vitally important of course. But it is the navy which the United States needs most right now.

In civilian thinking, the most dispensable idea at the moment, but the one that will be hardest to get rid of, is that the country can handle its responsibilities abroad without a tremendous step-up in responsibility at home. Politicians will cling to the theme that Americans will be able to eat their cake and have it too. That is the way it was in 1940.

Politicians always will tell voters what they think the voters want to hear, hoping something may turn up to keep them from eating their words. Political fashions don't change.

There will be more, not less, sacrifices. There will be less, not more, benefits. Work will be harder, not easier. Buying power will continue to go down in proportion to the decline in real income as government steps up its rates of spending, taxing and borrowing.

It would be easier for everybody if the ideas that need to be put into mothballs could be put there as efficiently as the de-mothballing of the surplus tools of World War II.

AEC's New Chairman

By PETER EDSON

Gordon Dean Not Idea Man, But Plugger

WASHINGTON
BEHIND President Truman's appointment of 44-year-old lawyer Gordon Dean as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission there is an interesting background. It deals with how the AEC has been getting on with its "radioactive squirrel cage."

Dean's appointment came as pretty much of a surprise to all but those on the inside who helped him get the job.

Aside from two years in U. S. Naval Intelligence service, Gordon Dean's 20-year career has been entirely in the legal profession. He has been law professor, Department of Justice attorney, public relations man for Justice Robert H. Jackson in prosecuting Nazis at the Nuremberg trials.

From 1940 to 1943 Mr. Dean was in private law practice in Washington. He was a partner of Sen. Brien McMahon of Connecticut, chairman of the Congressional Joint Committee on Atomic Energy. Senator McMahon naturally supported Dean's original appointment to the commission in May 1949 and his elevation to the chairmanship. They had also served together in Department of Justice Criminal Division.

The Atomic Energy Commission can use good legal talent. It has a complex law to administer, and many legal contracts. Its first chairman, David E. Lilienthal, was educated as a lawyer. But he had some years in engineering and public administration on Tennessee Valley Authority before he was made head of AEC.

Chairman Dean who succeeds him had no scientific or engineering experience until he was appointed to AEC by President Truman.

THE FIRST YEAR of any AEC member's time is spent largely in finding what it's all about. For instance, New York engineer and industrialist Thomas E. Murray, appointed to the commission last March, has spent nearly all his time since then in visiting AEC's many installations. He'll take up his duties in Washington one of these days, perhaps as well informed as any commissioner on AEC's work.

Of the other commission members, Dr. Henry DeWulf Smyth, author of the Smyth report, is a scientist serving a one-year term. Sumner T. Pike, industrialist and financier, is senior member of the commission, and has just been confirmed for a new four-year term. But because of recent difficulties with a few senators, he could not be appointed chairman.

Gordon Dean was therefore almost the only experienced commissioner available for appointment as chairman, by a mere process of elimination.

As chairman, Dean is expected to produce smoother relations with Congress, and with the armed services.

Former Chairman Lilienthal and Vice Chairman Pike have chafed a good bit under both. They felt that reporting to the Atomic Energy, Appropriations, Military Affairs and even Un-American Activities Committees took so much time it handicapped their work on developing the atomic energy program itself.

Also, both Lilienthal and Pike had strong views on keeping AEC a civilian agency and concentrating on development of civilian uses of atomic energy.

Chairman Dean is expected to go along a little closer with Department of Defense ideas. He is known to share the views of AEC commissioner Lewis L. Strauss on tighter security and restrictions on shipments of isotopes abroad.

CHAIRMAN DEAN'S several speeches of the past year—which he has written himself—have revealed no startlingly new ideas. He has analyzed the four main problems of the Atomic Energy Commission as follows: 1. Civilian vs military control. 2. Greater secrecy vs declassification of scientific knowledge. 3. Concentration on peacetime or military applications of atomic energy. 4. Government monopoly vs private industrial development.

He is regarded in Washington as a career official whose ambition to make a good record may overcome any lack of capacity for one of the biggest jobs in government. He still has his reputation to make in the way of new contributions to atomic policy.

As a matter of fact, the atomic energy program is now so extensively mapped out for the next few years that a lot of big ideas may not be required. More than at any other time in its short four-year history, the principal work of the Atomic Energy Commission is to carry out the policies and blueprints already on its books.

Mental Hospital Problems

A BROAD program to improve the care and treatment of mental patients in state hospitals has been outlined for the states by the council of State Governments. The recommendations were set forth in a recently released study of the mental health programs of the 48 states.

Pointing out the need for the states to re-examine their mental health programs, the study noted that in the 45-year period, 1903-1948, the proportion of the general population in mental hospitals in the U. S. had more than doubled. At the end of 1948, there were 556,625 resident patients in mental hospitals in the U. S. and of this total, 84 percent were patients in state mental institutions.

"The greatest lack in state hospitals for the mentally ill," the report said, "appears to be adequate buildings to house patients without overcrowding them. Overcrowding is the most serious detriment to patient comfort and well-being."

Seventy-four percent of the Council reported some excess of resident patients over their normal rated capacity. More than 40 percent of the hospitals reported overcrowding in excess of 20 percent of their rated capacity.

"More buildings are not the complete answer to the problem, however," the study pointed out. "Of equal importance is the problem of making funds available for developing new therapies and for employing qualified personnel in sufficient numbers."

"Additional emphasis on treatment programs will provide, in the long run, some savings in the effective therapies, designed to return patients more rapidly to their communities, could make many existing beds available to others who need them," according to the report.

FEW STATE HOSPITALS for the mentally ill meet recommended standards with respect to the type and number of professional personnel necessary to provide proper care and effective treatment of patients, the survey found.

Unless competent personnel in sufficient numbers are made available, proper care and treatment of patients can not be provided, the study pointed out. The greatest single obstacle to recruitment of mental hospital workers was found to be the lack of qualified personnel. Second in importance was unattractive remuneration.

Average salaries of occupational therapists in state hospitals was $2,267 annually and that for psychiatric social workers, $2,519. Attendants averaged $1,456, $5,138 and registered 721 in yearly wages. Psychiatrists nurses, $2,396. These average figures are for hospitals where maintenance is not provided. Maintenance in addition to salaries was found to be an important incentive to employment, although wages were lower.

"No class of personnel is more important in state hospitals for the mentally ill than is the attendant group," the report said. "Without capable attendants (psychiatric aides), the hospital cannot meet their responsibilities to patients."

In order to improve the quality of the attendant service, states are urged to: (1) more carefully select aides on merit basis, (2) set up special training courses for them, (3) give them adequate remuneration, (4) improve their working and housing conditions and (5) give them increased recognition and improved status.

MENTAL HOSPITALS have three principal purposes, according to the study: treatment and care of the patient, teaching and research. However, few state mental institutions have accomplished all of these purposes. "State hospitals have been forced to center attention on care of the mentally ill patients rather than on active treatment and very little constructive effort has been possible in the field of education and research," the report said.

Failure to develop in-service training programs for state hospital personnel is particularly unfortunate, the study pointed out, since these institutions for the mentally ill are often the only places in state where psychiatric training can be given readily.

More extensive and effective in-service training programs for all grades of personnel were recommended to be provided by hospitals. State hospitals were also encouraged to provide adequate facilities for undergraduate and graduate psychiatric training of nurses and for the field training of clinical psychologists, psychiatric social workers and occupational and physical therapists. Such a program would greatly alleviate the shortage of trained personnel.

Let's Be More Realistic in the Future

Program of Military Expansion

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON
THE DIE will be cast this week for an interim program of military expansion. But it could be the precursor of a bigger program if large-scale war ensues.

The new program entails an expenditure of somewhere between $4,000,000,000 and $6,000,000,000 of new appropriations. The amount of money actually spent may be larger because approximately $2,000,000,000 of contracts for war equipment that have not been let can be expeditiously put into the form of immediate orders.

The Korean war itself may not cost $1,000,000,000 to clean up, but the other sums spent now are to be an insurance against challenges anywhere else in the world. It is erroneous, therefore, to assume that what President Truman asks of Congress Wednesday is solely for the Korean war. It is due rather to a recognition of the contingencies to which the Korean war may lead.

Will this mean controls on the national economy?

This question has been giving concern to business men everywhere, but even more concern to the politically minded who know from experience that controls are likely to hurt the party in power.

The reason is that voters think things can be controlled effectively and smoothly without inconveniences. They think that all the government needs to do is to issue an order and hoarding will stop and prices will stabilize. It takes considerable ordering and considerable personnel and a long time to deal with that kind of an economic disturbance.

THE MOST EFFECTIVE way to deal with the problem, for a few months at least, is to impose voluntary controls and only in those industries where there is real need. Most of the money about to be spent, for example, is not for new construction at all. It is mostly for personnel and also for the reconditioning of weapons and equipment that have been in "mothballs." With the exception of some shortages of manpower in the shipyards which will soon be working around the clock to recondition ships and some parallel necessities for labor in the airplane factories where old planes will be refurbished, there will not be many tight areas. This sort of thing can be handled by voluntary controls.

Even if government controls eventually are to prove necessary for materials, much time can be saved by putting the job of control up to individual industries to organize on the basis of quotas or allocations determined by the munitions board of the National Security Resources Board. It is much easier for the government to take over when necessary a self-regulating industry mechanism than to start to impose a new one from scratch.

It could severely dislocate the whole economy if controls were imposed suddenly, especially when there is no telling how far away the actual start of a major war might be. An intermediate type of control program has to be devised.

It might resemble more the kind of mechanisms which were in effect when controls were being relaxed in 1946 and 1947 than those which were in operation in wartime. Broadly speaking, the task is more delicate than when actual war is in progress. For the objective now is to maintain as much of the peacetime economy as possible with normal functioning of markets for goods, and yet to provide whatever is needed for military purposes.

WITH THE EXPERIENCE of the last war so fresh in the recollections of legislators, it would not be surprising to see the laws somewhat more specific this time than they were before so as to remove some of the abuses of over-delegation to boards and commissions.

But if the war emergency doesn't spread this year, then the addition of five to eight billions of government spending can readily be absorbed by the national economy provided that the administration cuts out some non-essential spending of its own and puts the brakes on some of the inflationary steps it sanctioned a year or so ago when recession talk and deflation was in the air.

Conferences between leaders of industry and labor together with important congressional committees and executive agencies would seem to be in order if a balanced program of voluntary controls is to be set up with the minimum of delay. This week may see the beginning of such conferences.

Korean A.B.C.'s

By SAUL FREY

(For Hal Boyle)

Makes Typing Difficult

EDITOR'S NOTE: While Hal Boyle is en route to Japan and the Korean war front, various Associated Press staff members will be pinch-hitting for him on his daily column. Boyle's first column subjects were the American soldiers in North Africa, so he will be picking up a familiar theme in Korea.

MY CONTRIBUTION to the day's news is Korea is that the Korean language is the only one in the world which has to be typed horizontally and read vertically.

There are Chinese and Japanese typewriters which type those languages both horizontally and vertically. But the only Korean keyboard developed so far insists you type across the page, from right to left, although you read it words up and down.

This information came from Martin K. Tytell, a 36-year-old New York wizard who can tear apart a typewriter and make it perform in any one of 147 languages and dialects, including Dinka, Sanskrit and Urdu. He has more than 2,000,000 foreign type faces in his shop and, if you coax him, he'll whip you up a Korean job. But he doesn't recommend it.

"After you get through making one," he complains, "nobody knows how to use it. It's probably much faster to write the language in longhand."

TYTELL GUESSES there aren't more than half a dozen Korean typewriters in the world. He made one for the Army in 1944. He's grateful he never had to use it.

You see, the Chinese language is complicated enough. But Korean uses Chinese ideographic characters plus a native character "en-mum," plus a combination of the two. Some years ago, Tytell says, a Korean scholar named Dr. Song devised a keyboard which employs, among other things, 42 dead keys. That is, you hit one of them and the carriage doesn't move. In some cases, you have to hit eight or ten different keys to form one character.

"By the time you get a secretary to learn this, even a Korean secretary," says Tytell, "she'll up and leave you to get married."

You learn a lot about language differences talking to Tytell.

"It didn't surprise me to discover how difficult it is to convert an American typewriter to Persian or Arabic since they require different symbols which have to be joined together and written backwards, from right to left. And I wasn't surprised to learn that Siamese is 'very beautiful to look at but you can't tell whether it's upside down.' Once, unknowingly, Tytell made a Siamese keyboard inverted; he couldn't tell the difference.

WHAT DID SURPRISE ME was that keyboards used in countries which have the same Latin alphabet in common have so many differences. English and American typewriters differ. It's not just a case of pounds versus dollars. On most of our keyboards, we have just two fractions—the quarter and half. The British have one-eighth, three-eighths, five-eighths and seven-eighths. And British keyboards vary from dominion to dominion, but let me tell you about the Portuguese.

A Portuguese keyboard used in Brazil is like an American keyboard except it has eight type changes and two dead keys used for accents. A Portuguese keyboard in Portugal has 42 type changes.

If somebody asks Tytell for a French typewriter, he has to ask "French for France or French for the United States?"

In France, the A, Q, W, Z and M are in different positions from where they are here. On the top row, you have to shift for the numerals because the accent marks are on the bottom of the keys. In this country, a French keyboard is made by removing the fractions, the commercial "at" and the cent signs and substituting the grave, acute, circumflex and cedilla symbols.

And then there are the Spanish keyboards. There's the . . . Oh, the heck with it, maybe you got something in the oven. (AP Newsfeatures)

Do You Really Want to Take Off Ugly Fat?

Recently there have been a number of new reducing preparations on the market, some of them based on the diet and vitamin "plan." It is obvious that vitamins will not reduce the body weight, so one must depend on diet to reduce. But it is also obvious that one cannot go on a strenuous diet over a protracted period, and any weight lost will be restored if the former eating habits are gone back to.

So what to do? Well, here is a tip to you "overweight gals" who want to fight "the Battle of the Bulges" in a different way. Ask any well stocked Ohio druggist for four ounces of Rimmel. Mix with 12 ounces of grapefruit juice and take two tablespoons twice a day.

This preparation contains nothing harmful and the makers agree to refund your money on the very first bottle if it does not show you the way to lose ugly fat and keep regain slender, more graceful curves.

Rimmel is low in cost and is not based on the diet and vitamin "plan." You need never know a hungry moment while reducing with Rimmel.

Five Americans Die In Air Crash

22 Killed In Indian Airways Transport

NEW DELHI, India, July 18—(AP)—Twenty-two persons, including five Americans, were killed yesterday in the crash of an Indian National Airways plane in the Himalayan foothills near Kashmir during a heavy rain-storm.

Canadian Brig. H. H. Angle of Kelowna, B. C., chief of the United Nations military observers in Kashmir, was one of the victims. U. S. Gen. Courtney Hodges, advisor to U. N. Kashmir mediator Sir Owen Nixon, was scheduled to make the flight but cancelled his passage at the last minute.

Cause of the crash has not been determined. The DC-3 plane was missing for 12 hours before villagers found wreckage in a river bed near the town of Pothohar. It was on a non-stop flight from New Delhi to Srinagar, capital of Kashmir.

American killed were: Col. Perry Brown, who came to the U. N. from Camp Hood, Tex., as an American observer with the United Nations commission for India and Pakistan (the Kashmir commission).

Lt. Col. Robert E. Mayfield, Oklahoma, also an American observer, recently transferred from Tokyo.

Sanford Major, Williston Park, Long Island, N. Y., a United Nations civilian communications officer.

Susan Bruton, Baltimore, Md., a nurse and member of a World Health Organization (WHO) police team.

Elizabeth Bradfield, Tulsa, Okla., a librarian at the United States information service library at Bombay.

Aircraft Industry Can Expand Rapidly

WASHINGTON, July 18—(AP)—America's aircraft industry is better prepared today for an order to expand than before World War II.

Such an order can be expected shortly as part of a prospective request from defense officials for $5,000,000,000 or more additional funds.

Despite a relatively better position, including the experience of a rapid expansion less than ten years ago, a new buildup in terms of numbers of planes is likely to be slower than in 1942-1943.

In terms of producing planes that represent an increased striking force, the expansion may be still slower. The reason is that present 215-a-month average output of warplanes is a little less than the normal attrition or loss rates for aircraft committed to Korean operations.

Those losses—more from operational problems than enemy fire—are being replaced from war surplus stocks at home. The stocks in turn must be replaced.

The explanation for the slower buildup of production lies in the fact that today's warplanes are twice as heavy, require four times as many man-hours of labor, are four times as expensive and much more complicated.

There are 75 aircraft plants in at least semi-readiness condition.

Lausche Inspects County Strip Mines

COLUMBUS, July 18—Gov. Frank J. Lausche inspected strip mining activities in seven Ohio counties yesterday.

Gov. Lausche, accompanied by reclamation officials, observed the extent of efforts to grade the land and replant in accordance with requirements of Ohio's new strip mine law.

Counties visited were Mahoning, Columbiana, Carroll, Jefferson, Harrison, Belmont and Tuscarawas.

Accompanying the governor were: Dr. H. C. Ramsower, Clyde L. Moyer, Layton S. Delaughter and Forest W. Dean; four of the five members of the reclamation board of review; H. S. Foust, director of agriculture; Zold M. Flaler, chief of the Division of Reclamation; Dwight P. Miller, Boyd Wallace, and Robert R. Paton, field men for the Division of Reclamation.

Trucks Pound Road In 6-month Test To See If Big Ones Break Up Highways

THREE-LANE TREADMILL: Day and night, these trucks will roll back and forth on a mile-long road in Maryland to see how much damage trucks do to highways.

LA PLATA, Md.—(NEA)—The most deliberate beating ever given a highway is being pounded out by a fleet of heavily loaded trucks lumbering along day and night, back and forth over a mile-long strip of road in Southern Maryland.

So far the highway has survived better than the drivers. Two seasoned truck jockeys quit after one week of their monotonous grind to nowhere.

But when the test ends in mid-December, some highway officials think the three-lane stretch of concrete road may be ready to give up, too. At least it will provide engineers with the answers to the big puzzle of the highways:

Do big trucks really break up our roads? If so, what load weight does the serious damage? And how fast does the break-up occur?

ELEVEN STATES and the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads are sharing the costs of the test, which grew out of a suggestion by the Maryland State Roads Commission.

Although only eight trucks are being used, their operation has been scheduled to pound out the equivalent of 20 years of normal wear in six months.

The trucks roll day and night, rain or shine, seven days a week.

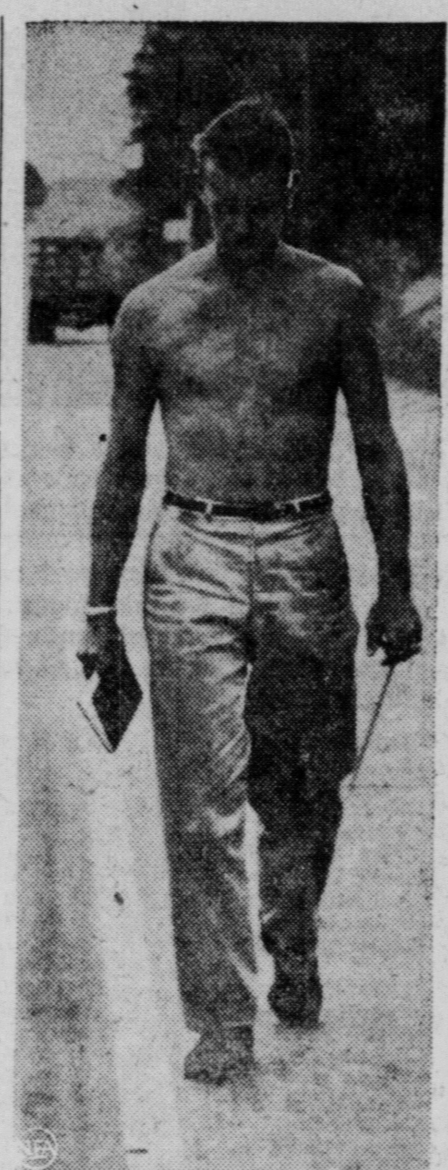

On an average of once every minute, every slab of concrete in the test strip gets a multi-ton jolt. Drivers work eight-hour shifts—and they have no pleasure traffic to worry about. The road is a section of U. S. Route 301, between La Plata and the Potomac, and it has been closed off to the public.

TO MEASURE what the repeated jolts do to the road, a corps of technicians from the Highway Research Board has set up instruments that produce charts, graphs and pictures of the beating the road is taking.

The trucks operate in pairs, each pair being loaded with a different, but carefully measured weight. Lightest load is 18,000 pounds, the heaviest 44,800. Each pair has its own section of the test road, and thus engineers can compare from day to day the rate of damage under the lighter and heavier loads.

Before the test ends, the trucks will have rolled up a total of half a million miles on their concrete treadmill.

Some officials familiar with the test think the road may break up before December. Others aren't so sure. Whatever they find out, however, will be actual fact rather than theory in a question that has kept highway officials and trucking interests at loggerheads for 30 years.

PEDESTRIAN: U. S. Engineer Sydney Smith patrols test road to check daily pounding.

Democrats Rip McCarthy Probe

Senator's Charges Held "Fraud And Hoax"

WASHINGTON, July 18—(AP)—"A fraud and a hoax"—that's the label slapped on Republican Senator McCarthy's communists-in-government charges by the Democratic majority of a senate investigating committee.

A report signed by all three Democrats on the committee—Senators Tydings (Md), Green (RI) and McMahon (Conn)—asserts that:

McCarthy used "the totalitarian technique of the big lie" in waging "perhaps the most nefarious campaign of half-truths and untruths in the history of this republic."

McCarthy retorted that the report of the Democrats is "gigantic in its fraud and deep in its deceit." The Wisconsin senator added:

"It is a signal to the traitors, Communists and fellow travelers in our government that they need have no fear of exposure from this administration."

"The most loyal stooges of the Kremlin could not have done a better job of giving a clean bill of health to Stalin's fifth column in this country."

The Democrats' report, issued last night, was generally regarded at the Capitol as one of the most scathing condemnations of a senator ever made by colleagues. It accused McCarthy of having lied repeatedly.

The majority said McCarthy failed to prove any of his basic allegations, which were fired at scores of individuals in attacks directed at the State Department. McCarthy accused the department of harboring a lot of Communists, Red sympathizers, and people who were security risks on other grounds.

State Outlines Powerboat Rules

Resources Commission Adopts Regulations

COLUMBUS, July 18—(AP)—New powerboat regulations for state-owned lakes were adopted Monday by the state Natural Resources Commission.

Natural Resources Director A. W. Marion said they prohibit:

The use of motors on any of the state's headwater lakes built with fishing and hunting license funds.

The use of motors on any state lake of less than 500 acres.

The use of motors in excess of six horsepower on any state lake over 500 acres unless the parks division posts zones permitting speeds over 10 miles an hour.

The new lake down in Clinton County, which covers about 700 acres falls into the last category. Marion said it would be up to the parks division to determine whether speed zones should be posted there.

All of the old state-owned canal lakes—Grand Lake (Lake St. Marys), Indian Lake, Buckeye Lake and the Portage Lakes—have posted speed zones.

The speed limit on any state lake—except in the case of sanctioned regattas—is set at 25 mph. The new regulations will be effective 10 days after Marion files them with the secretary of state.

Reuther Proposes Anti-Red Fund

DETROIT, July 18—(AP)—Walter Reuther proposed today that the United States invest more than a trillion dollars in a 100-year fight to rid the world of Communism.

Reuther, president of the CIO United Auto Workers union and long-time foe of Communism, made the proposal to President Truman.

In a letter to the President the union chieftain advocated a global "total peace offensive" under America's leadership as a "compelling necessity for democratic survival."

Reuther envisioned a huge international enterprise operating from a "people's world assembly for peace" within the U.N.

A doctor worked with a police resuscitator for over an hour in a vain attempt to revive the girl.

- Slim pickings: The Junior Chamber of Commerce city tennis tournament is being played at Centennial park and not at the Country Club, as heretofore reported. It's singles play only.
- A follower of a local baseball team is advised that his letter to this department was filed in the waste basket, joining all other such unsigned communications.
- It's almost time for the Salem Boosters club to begin making noises. The approach of football season heralds the club's most active period of the year.
- Many are concerned over the club members' lack of interest. A recent turnout of six at an important meeting is cited.
- The latest improvement at West End park, Joe Kelley reports, is a small picnic shelter located beyond the centerfield fence. The public may use the facility at any time.
- The only hazard, we might add, is the threat of having a softball land in your potato salad.

Fair Or Foul

By LAWTON CARVER

Pennant winners must have winning pitchers. That is as necessary as it is simple. And it is the reason the question has arisen as to Brooklyn's chances of making off with the 1950 National League flag. Before the season started the Dodgers were conceded to have the league's best. Everybody was on record with a vote for the Dodger mound staff. Don Newcombe, Preacher Roe, Ralph Branca, Joe Hatten, Rex Barney, Dan Bankhead, Bud Podbielan and Jack Banta were figured to carry the Dodgers to a shoo-in pennant. But paperwork doesn't always jive with what goes on when the actual shooting starts on the playing field. The Dodger pitching turned out to be one big flop. Only Roe came through, he was forced to carry the entire load as Branca, Barney and Hatten failed and Newcombe, the main cog, fell away off from his sensational pace of last season. Podbielan and Banta have been shipped back to the minors and Branch Rickey has been forced

Line Play

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

YOU could tell that the old-timer was a former football player; he looked like a well-preserved All-America guard of the period before the lively ball. And you could tell he was a Harvard man by the light in his eyes and the awe and regard in his voice when he mentioned Percy Haughton. . . . He was, in fact, Harry Von Kersburg, who didn't make Walter Camp's All-America team in 1906 but didn't miss by much. Later he was line coach under Haughton, a head coach himself and an official. He's seen a lot of football. . . . "One thing you don't want to overlook is that a lot of Haughton's success was due to the Pot Graves system of line play," he declared. "Pot later put in the same system at West Point and they still follow it to some extent. It's hard, rough, tough football but clean. It accounts for a lot of Army victories in recent years. . . ."

to dip into his minor league talent to find some help. Shotton seems to be getting help from unexpected sources. First off, he found a starter in young Erv Palica, a fellow kept in the bullpen as an ornament all season. Palica won two straight as a starter.

Then Farmer Rickey produced what may be another booster. He dipped into the Texas League and came up with big Chris Van Cuyk, a 23-year-old, 6-6, 220 pound lefty.

The young fellow was started against the Cardinals Sunday and came through the rough baptism without a scratch. He allowed the Cards seven hits as his mates won out, 10 to 2.

If Palica and Van Cuyk can help hold the fort until and if Newcombe, Hatten and the perennial-potential Branca-Barney duo can come along to spell the overworked Roe, the Dodgers may live up to expectations.

Philadelphia and St. Louis have the better staffs right now. Unless the situation is reversed the Dodgers can only hope to be third best behind these two.

You still have to have the better pitchers to win flags these days.

Garcia Fails Again, Loses To Bosox

Tagged For Five In First Inning

Tribe Splits Again
11-6, 5-7 At Fenway

(By Associated Press)

THE Cleveland Indians, who opened their current road trip by splitting series with New York and Boston, pulled into Philadelphia today for a three-game set with the last place Athletics.

The Tribe dropped the second game of a day and night doubleheader yesterday in Boston, 7-5, after copping the day tilt, 11-6.

Because the Indians played doubleheaders both Sunday and Monday, Mike Garcia had to pitch again in the night game. It was his second start in two days and he lasted just two-thirds of an inning. The Bosox scored five times in the first panel on four hits and a walk.

Walt Dropo's 23rd home run of the season clinched the game in the seventh.

Using four pitchers — Early Wynn, Dick Weik, Dick Rozek and Al Benton — the Indians pulled ahead in the fifth inning of the day game by scoring four times on walks to Luke Easter, Al Rosen, Jim Hegan and Roberto Avila and singles by Bob Kennedy and Joe Gordon.

They tallied four more times in the sixth, on singles by Rosen and Doby, a walk to Easter and Gordon's ninth homer of the season.

Rosen's 26th homer, which put him in front in the American League race, scored Dale Mitchell and Luke Easter, who had both singled in the first.

FOR GORDON, it was a perfect game at the plate. He got five of the Indians' 12 hits in his five trips.

The split dropped Cleveland six and a half games behind the leading Detroit Tigers and two games behind second-place New York.

Tonight Manager Lou Boudreau will pitch Bob Lemon, who has not lost a game since June 20, against Philadelphia's Bob Shantz. Lemon has a 13-4 record. He worked two innings Sunday when Cleveland lost at Boston, but was not charged. He has beaten the A's each of the three times he faced them this season, 6-4 on May 10, 6-3 on June 11, and 8-7 on June 17.

In St. Louis, they're convinced the Dodger push is on. So far the Brooks have whipped the Cardinals 11 out of 14, the last seven in a row, including a day-night doubleheader yesterday.

Nine of 14 Brooklyn pitchers to face St. Louis have gone all the way — Preacher Roe — four times and Don Newcombe three.

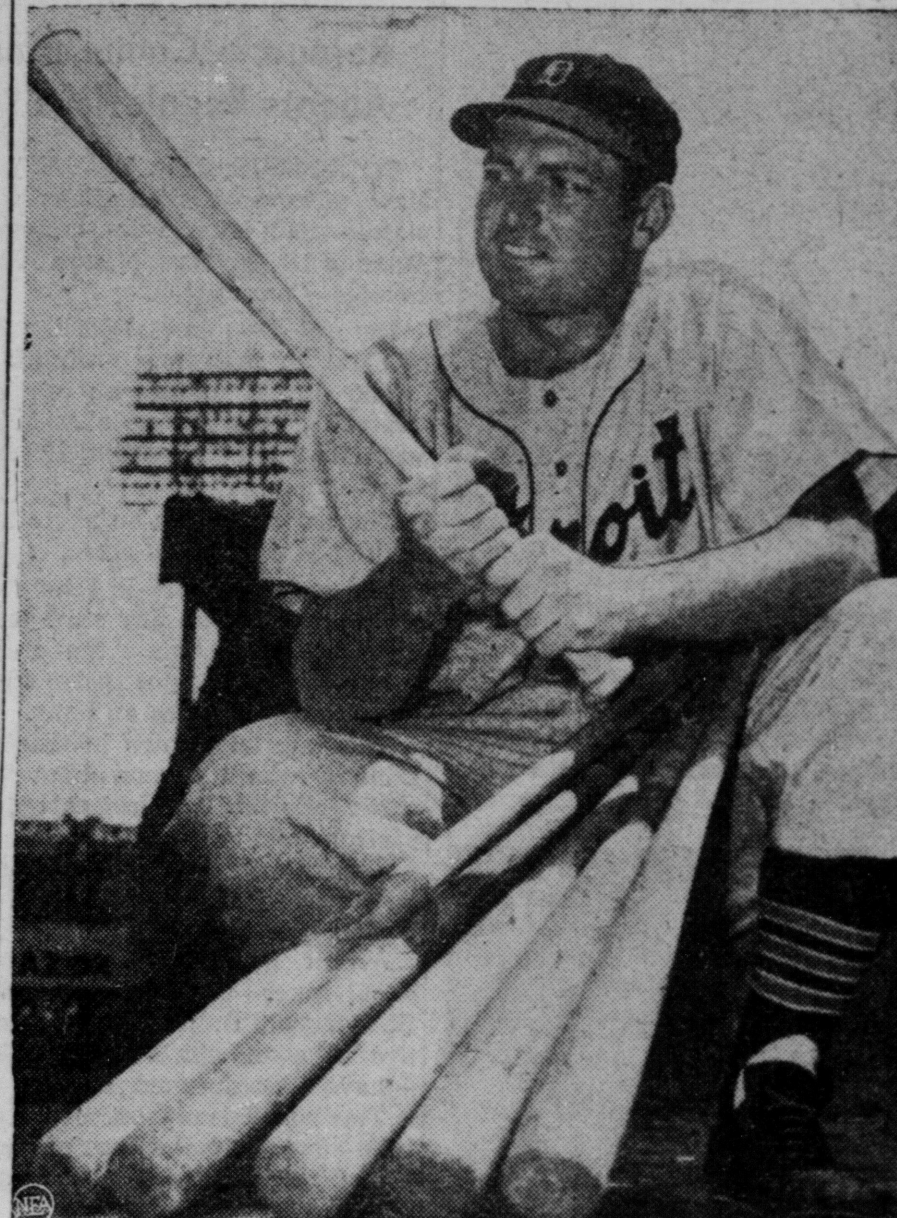

Roe did it again last night as the Dodgers crushed Howie Pollet, 7-1, after stumbling to a 6-3 afternoon decision for Dan Bankhead. The preacher man allowed only five hits for his 11th victory.

The double Cardinal loss let the idle Phillies, rained out at Chicago, sneak back into first place. Then come St. Louis and Boston tied for second.

Bill Piro, a rookie from Indianapolis making his first big league appearance, was well on his way to success when Boston hung up a big five in the ninth and dumped Pittsburgh, 8-6.

JIM HEARN, making his first New York start since his purchase from St. Louis a week ago, held Cincinnati to four hits in an easy 10-3 romp. He retired 14 men in order and allowed no hits after the fourth.

Detroit boosted its American League lead to 4½ games by whipping the Philadelphia A's in a twilight-night doubleheader. The runnerup New York Yankees played only one game, edging Chicago, 4-3.

LUMBERMAN—Judging by his array of timber and a leading .360 average, Third Baseman George Kell of the Tigers isn't kidding about defending the American League batting championship.

Charley Keller's pinch triple, a pinch single by Freddie Hutchinson and Jerry Priddy's timely single helped the Tigers rally with three in the eighth inning of the 8-6 opener. Hal Newhouse won his 10th over reliever Carl Scheib. Saul Rogovin, making his third start, went the route for the first time in the 3-1 night game.

Yogi Berra and Hank Bauer, a couple of Yankee cripples returning to action, took care of the White Sox.

Berra broke a 2-2 tie with a two-run double in the seventh. Bauer drove in one run and scored with two with a perfect three-hit night against southpaw Bill Wright.

Third baseman Eddie Yost made a sensational lunging catch of a foul ball to put down a ninth-inning St. Louis threat and save a 3-1 Washington victory.

Bliss, Mullins Win AA Contests

Al Linder Hurls One Hitter For Saxon Club

Still on top and running smoothly, the Bliss Cardinals racked up victory No. 12 Monday night, defeating the V. F. W. 3-0 in Class AA play. The Mullins nine hung a 6-5 defeat on the Amvets and the Saxons took a 12-0 tilt from Peoples Lumber in the lone Class A game. The Men About Town forfeited their game to the C. I. O.

Wayne Russell spun a five hit shutout against the Vets, pitching air-tight ball. His mates got a pair of runs in the first and one in the fifth for good measure. Russell slapped out a pair of base hits, too.

Three home runs featured the Amvet-Mullins tilt. Kirby Laughlin smashed one in the first inning with one man on base, but Johnny Hart of Mullins came back in the same frame to equal the feat. Both teams got three in the fifth, but Mullins' single tally in the fourth decided the game. Orrie Wright rifled a four bagger in the fifth inning.

Both Laughlin and Mutt Schaeffer each pitched six hitters.

Al Linder's one hit pitching was too much for Peoples as his team banged across 12 runs to end the game at four and a half innings.

Mike Linder and Stumpert each had three hits for the Saxons.

It was the Saxons' tenth victory. They trail the C. I. O. by a single game.

Robinson Faces Fine For Latest Ruckus

SCRANTON, Pa., July 18 — (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson is likely to find himself suspended and fined in Pennsylvania today.

Robinson announced yesterday after undergoing a physical check-up by a Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission doctor that he would not go through with a fight against Jose Basora here tomorrow night. The 15-round fight was for the Pennsylvania version of the middleweight crown, held by Robinson along with his world welterweight title.

The slim Harlem Negro said he had a backache. Dr. Leonard M. Freda, commission physician, said he could find nothing wrong with Robinson after sending the boxer through an hour's workout and X-raying his back.

Chairman George Jones, Jr., of the commission stated before the examination that if Robinson didn't show up he would be given the heaviest fine ever assessed a fighter in Pennsylvania, suspended and sued for damages in behalf of the promoter and Basora.

U. S. To Answer Nehru's Note

Probably Will Demand N. Korean Withdrawal

WASHINGTON, July 18—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson was believed ready to tell Prime Minister Nehru today that the United States ardently wants peace in Asia but not at the price of bowing to Communist aggression in Korea.

A carefully worded no-appearance reply to the Indian leader's peace approach to the United States and Russia was drafted for dispatch to New Delhi.

The State Department expected to make it public after a copy is handed also to Madame Vijaya Pandit, Indian ambassador and Nehru's sister.

Madame Pandit yesterday gave Acheson a copy of a reply from Soviet Prime Minister Stalin contending that the admission of Communist China in the UN is an essential step toward ending the Korean War. Nehru also called for the seating of Communist China, which has been recognized by India, and for the return of Russia to the Security Council.

In a second message to Stalin today, the Indian prime minister called the Russian reply "encouraging" and said he was contacting "the other governments concerned."

A car driven by Patricia Kroner of 916 S. Union st left the road and ran into a tombstone at the Greenford Cemetery at 6 p. m. Monday.

The accident was reported to have taken place when Miss Kroner failed to negotiate a left turn onto Route 165 from Beaver Creek rd and drove the car over a three-foot ditch and up a slight bank into the cemetery. The auto came to rest after hitting a three-ton tombstone, knocking the two upper sections off their base.

Miss Kroner was uninjured and slight damage was reported caused to her car.

BROOKS

286 E. State Street

DEAR PATRONS:

As manager of the State Theatre, it gives me great pleasure to tell you that our city has been honored by being chosen for a special advance showing of the M-G-M production, "Stars In My Crown."

This city was selected over hundreds of others because it most nearly represents the community life and spirit that is portrayed in the picture. "Stars In My Crown" tells the stirring story of a typical American town and its people and its fighting parson. "Two-Gun" Parson Gray was a man whose words were loaded as well as his guns. You'll admire and understand him.

"Stars In My Crown", starring Joel McCrea, Ellen Drew and Dean Stockwell is already being hailed as one of the finest family pictures of 1950. It has just been awarded the Parent's Magazine medal for outstanding merit. It is based on a series of Saturday Evening Post stories and the book by Joe David Brown that thrilled countless readers.

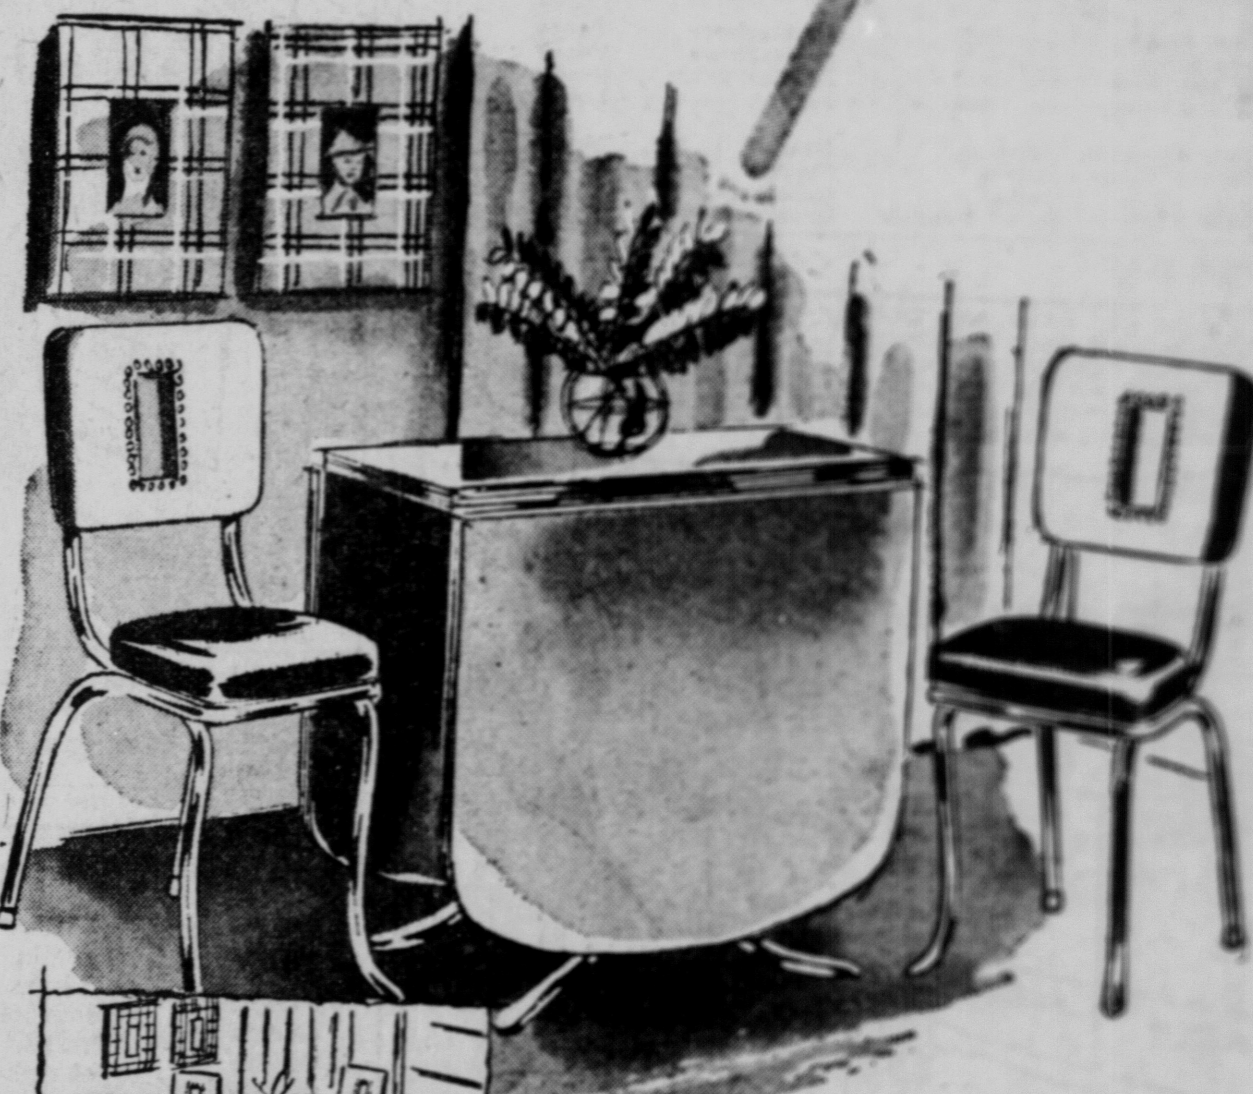

I personally consider "Stars In My Crown" an exceptional entertainment and I urge you all to see it.

Sincerely,

N. I. WALKEN, Manager
